

You may have voted blue...
but every day you unknowingly dump millions of dollars into the "conservative" war chest.

By purchasing products and services from companies that donate heavily to conservatives, we have been compromising our interests as liberals and progressives.

BuyBlue.org is an effort to lift the veil of corporate patronage, so consumers can make informed buying decisions that coincide with their principles.

We are developing an extensive and interactive website that will allow you to monitor corporate activity in real time and find out to whom your money goes. We cannot do this alone; we need an army of Blue buyers to be the eyes and ears of this movement. All we have to do is put our money where our mouth is to make it profitable to be ethical.
